

A Database Management System (DBMS) is a software system that provides a way to store, organize, and manage data in a structured and controlled manner. It serves as an intermediary between the user and the database, enabling users to easily access, manipulate, and update data.

As d

Syste

now

This

Data

the f

further

